The Dive Sites

The diving is what you come for and you won't be disappointed by what you will get to experience. Make seven dives at six different dive sites including a night dive (following sites subject to change):

- Anemone Reef – an outstanding dive site full of colourful soft corals and sea fans, and a large variety of marine life including turtles and possibly a blacktip reef shark.
- King Cruiser – a superb wreck dive on an old car ferry that sunk in 1997. More than just a wreck this old ship is covered with fish, with a resident turtle or two also.
- Koh Bida Nok – a beautiful wall dive with large schools of snappers and trevallies. Also great for leopard sharks and even the occasional whaleshark!
- Koh Bida Nai – a fascinating mix of underwater topography with superb colours, schooling barracuda and leopard sharks too.
- Maya Bay – the world-renowned bay, made famous by the film the beach. Location for sunset followed by a night dive with crabs and crustaceans, shrimps galore and maybe even a bamboo shark.
- Koh Doc Mai – an amazing wall dive full of small critters. Seahorses, frogfish, pipefish and nudibranches can all be discovered here – a macro lover's dream.

The Boat

Originally a fishing boat the Greta was completely overhauled and turned into a comfortable, purpose-designed diving boat. The lower deck consists of a comfortable air-conditioned lounge and dive deck. All meals are served in the lounge area, and water, tea and coffee together with an assortment of fruits and snacks are readily available throughout the trip.

The dive deck comfortably fits 25 divers with room for storing gear and bags once your equipment has been set up. Upstairs is the chill-out area with mattresses on the floor for the sun worshippers, and a table and benches for those feeling in a sociable mood.

Accommodation on Phi Phi

Accommodation for the trip is at the Bay View Resort, a series of split-level bungalows on the hilly terrain of Laem Hin. From the bungalows themselves you have a fantastic panoramic view of the smaller of the two Phi Phi islands, namely Phi Phi Ley.

The resort itself sits right on the beach front, a fantastic place to start the day with a buffet-style breakfast. All rooms are either twin-share or double rooms with air-conditioning and hot water showers. Soap, shampoo and towels are provided for your convenience. All rooms also contain satellite TV and a mini-bar.

Phi Phi Don

One of the beauties of the trip is the chance to relax and explore the main island of Phi Phi, namely Phi Phi Don. With white sand beaches and lush tropical vegetation you really feel like you are in paradise.

Once you have checked into your accommodation the usual thing is to have an explore around and then, if you still have energy left, join other customers and your dive guides for a drink or two on the shorefront. Listen to some live music and revel at the local fire show as the entertainers toss and spin their flaming torches.
